Health Care Provider:

The Non-Emergency Medical Transportation Resource Guide is provided to you as a free service of the Rural Medical Transportation Network (RMTN), a project of the Center for Rural Health and Social Service Development at Southern Illinois University Carbondale. Developed in cooperation with the mass transit districts of the RMTN service region, the guide is designed to facilitate the transportation of your patients whom reside in southern Illinois.

The RMTN Service Region map delineates the seven mass transit districts that are currently participating in the RMTN. The Transit District by City / County table details each municipality that is located within the RMTN service region, and its respective county and transit district. After using the map and table to determine which mass transit district provides service for the counties to / from which your patient needs transport, please refer to the contact and services information for the appropriate district.

This guide is designed to help you in your efforts to provide quality health care to your patients. Your comments and ideas of how we can improve the Non-Emergency Medical Transportation Resource Guide are important. The staff of the RMTN welcomes your participation in the development of the guide, as well as your thoughts and experiences with regard to any issues that are relevant to the emergency or non-emergency transportation of patients.

If you have questions or comments, please contact me at 618-453-3314 / dpresley@siumed.edu.

Sincerely,

Dennis Presley

Dennis Presley,
RMTN Project Coordinator
